

Concert for Cures

You are cordially invited as a guest of

George & Judy Goldman
and

Goldman Philanthropic Partnerships

to a private concert kicking off a campaign in support of

Partnership for Cures

medical research pilot grants to find cures
for multiple myeloma and other diseases.

Saturday, June 24, 2006

7:00 - 9:30 PM

Soloist: Pianist Mark Damisch

At the home of Professor & Mrs. Ralph Barnett
132 East Delaware, #6307, Chicago, IL 60611

The favor of a reply before Friday, June 16th is requested.

Please call or email Beth Black at:

(312) 601-8849 ❖ beth@4cures.org

See the reverse side of this invitation for more information.

Partnership for Cures

George & Judy Goldman, founders of Goldman Philanthropic Partnerships, recently introduced Partnership for Cures as the next step in an effort they launched eight years ago to bring business rigor to medical research.

Partnership for Cures is a new public charity whose mission is to transform the way cures are discovered.

Partnership for Cures Pilot Grants provide "seed money" to scientists so they can test new hypotheses and jumpstart research in new directions so that cures will be developed more quickly.

Concert for Cures ~ Evening Program

Pianist Mark Damisch, who has performed all over the world, will play pieces by Bartok, Beethoven, Chopin, and Copland. Partnership for Cures will highlight current exciting medical research initiatives. Renowned scientists will talk briefly about how individualized therapies are changing medical practice & influencing research.

Please join us for an inspiring evening!

Dress: Business or Cocktail Attire

Menu: Dinner Buffet, Wine, Soft drinks

Parking Options:

- ❖ 120 E. Delaware Place
Valet parking 3 hours - $25
Self-parking 3 hours $21
- ❖ Mall entrance near Bloomingdale's on Walton St.
between Michigan Ave. & Rush St.
Self-park $6 after 5 PM with a validated ticket
- ❖ Street Parking, if available